

United States LMO Finances

CMOs have no separate corporate or legal identity. As such, they may not accept goods, funds, or services from private organizations or individuals. The CMOs also may not hire any independent employees, although they may utilize a Member's existing staff. Members may use their personal funds to support the CMO.

Quite confident in information